

Tableware

Functional Form

Bauscher has always held that porcelain art can be practiced to perfection without sacrificing an iota of functionality.

Our Stuttgart collection was the first shining example. Today, as then, all Stuttgart dinnerware items feature the typical Bauscher attributes - they are stackable, durable and delightfully easy to handle.

The inventor of professional porcelain

Those who specialize achieve more. Bauscher has been manufacturing porcelain since 1881. Nothing else. This long experience gives you the certainty of perfect professional porcelain.

Function, quality and service were enhanced again and again over the years to their current high standard. After all, it is Bauscher's ambition to remain the best.

The Gala pattern will be retired by Bauscher in December, 2012 and is available for replacement from Tableware

Sensational – porcelain for induction

Porcelain, a material which has proven its worth over centuries, combines with the high-tech solution for heating foods. A special and optimally adjusted silver coating on the underside of the item transforms Bauscher porcelain into high-performance induction dishware – compatible with the popular systems in this area. Use Bauscher quality porcelain for uniform heating, reheating or regeneration of foods.

Effective control with induction coatings.

The supply of high-frequency current to the copper coil in a specially developed induction unit produces an alternating electromagnetic field between the coil and the coated porcelain item. The resulting energy can be used effectively to heat a targeted area on the plane. Because of the targeted heating, the rim stays cool to the touch for safer handling by residents, patients and staff

Optimally coated - a perfectly designed coating of the porcelain items ensures a more uniform heat distribution. A special glaze protects against wear and offers hygienic protection.

› Improved presentation > positive thinking is the best medicine!
